

Literary Reference Center™ Plus

Powered by EBSCOhost®

The World's Most Extensive Literary Reference Resource

Need to write a paper about coming-of-age in Harper Lee's To Kill a Mockingbird? Searching for a full-text copy of Hamlet? Compiling critical essays to support your research on the works of John Steinbeck or Zora Neale Hurston? Look no further than Literary Reference Center™ Plus.

Available through the library website, Literary Reference Center Plus provides the most relevant and reliable information on thousands of authors and their works across literary disciplines and timeframes.

With Literary Reference Center Plus, you can do all of the following and more:

- Search for articles by keyword, author or title
- Browse authors or literary works by genre or movement
- Discover thousands of articles, literary criticism essays, plot summaries, book reviews, author biographies and interviews
- Access full text for thousands of classic novels as well as classic and contemporary short stories and poems
- Use interactive study guides to explore novels and plays by American and British writers
- Better understand the characteristics of different genres and writing techniques
- Hear HTML articles read aloud with EBSCO's Text-to-Speech feature
- Save articles and searches to your own personal folder for easy retrieval
- Use EBSCO's citation tool to properly cite sources in your research

www.metrolibrary.org/research